Gas Explosion Causes Death Of 14 Miners

Last Three Bodies Are Removed From Wrecked Mine at 4 A. M. Saturday
SUFFOCATION KILLS SIX From 50 to 75 Orphans and Dependents Left By Fatal Accident

By Associated Press
Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Fourteen dead was Saturday established as the toll of the gas explosion Friday at the Loomis colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Co., after state inspectors and mine workers had made a complete search of the mine. Three missing men's bodies were located, the last being removed at 4 A. M. Two men are in a hospital seriously injured while four or five slightly hurt, are at their homes.

MANY DEPENDENTS LEFT
From 50 to 75 orphans and dependents are left by the accident, and officials of the United Mine Workers Saturday set about organizing measures for their relief.

The condition of the mine necessitated shutting down the colliery for the day.

Inspectors found that six of the men died from suffocation, while three others lost their lives when only 50 feet from safety. Joseph J. Walsh, state secretary of mines, announced that an investigation of the cause of the explosion will be started Monday, when the interior of the mine will have been sufficiently cleared.

Jap Cabinet Quits After Adverse Vote

By Associated Press
Tokyo—The Kiyoura cabinet resigned Friday night.

The resignation of the cabinet has been regarded as a foregone conclusion since its defeat in the recent elections, in which the Kenseikai party became the dominant factor in the lower house of the diet, though there has been some bitter criticism of the government since the enactment in America of legislation forbidding the entry of Japanese immigrants.

However even before that issue became an actuality, it was generally understood the ministry headed by Viscount Kiyoura would retire as soon as the festivities incident upon the wedding of the prince regent had been completed.

FATHERS OF FRANKS SLAYERS DENY PLAN FOR MONEY BATTLES

Only Such Defense As Every Man Is Entitled to Will Be Attempted

By Associated Press
Chicago.—Only such a defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires indicted for the kidnapping for ransom and murdering of Robert Franks, schoolboy son of another millionaire, according to a joint statement issued by the fathers of the confessed slayers.

The boys' fathers have "not the slightest inclination nor intention to use their means to obtain an unjust legal battle with an elaborate array of legal counsel and an army of high priced attorneys in an attempt to defeat justice," the statement said.

It was the first explanation of the two fathers—Nathan Leopold, Sr., wealthy box manufacturer, and Albert H. Loeb, vice president of Sears Roebuck and Co., since the youths were first taken into custody.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury Friday, making separate charges of kidnapping for ransom and murder—each a capital offense. Drawn with the utmost care and calculated to defeat every possible technical objection, the indictments contain 27 counts, eleven of which are for murder.

The youths will be arraigned next Wednesday and the state will ask that the trial date be set for July 15, the earliest possible date. States Attorney Crowe plans two distinct prosecutions and may ask for two separate trials on the indictments.

Defense counsel plan asking for a continuance. It was reported, or a change of venue from Chicago to another county on the ground that public sentiment has been aroused to such an extent by newspaper accounts of the kidnapping and slaying that the defendants cannot obtain a fair trial here.

Petitions for writs of habeas corpus for the release of the youths were dismissed with the returning of the indictments and hearing on the petition scheduled for Friday were not held.

Madison—Patrick J. Powers, former Madison policeman, was ordered held for trial on a charge of manslaughter by Judge O. A. Stolen in superior court here Saturday. Powers shot and killed Peter M. Posepny, 21, University of Wisconsin student from Two Rivers on May 12.

Posepny was shot when he was found at the rear of the Powers home. The policeman claimed the student was looking in windows of the home and that he intended to shoot over Posepny's head.

The case attracted wide attention recalling a similar case in 1921 when a Madison policeman shot and killed a student.

SPLIT IN G. O. P. SPOILS RECORD OF LEGISLATION

Congress Winds up Extraordinary Session Without Plaudits of Voters

INSURGENTS BLOCK ACTION

Most Important Achievement Is Adjournment Before Conventions

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Congress winds up the most extraordinary session of a generation without even the joy of self satisfaction let alone the plaudits of an approving electorate.

To judge fairly what has been done requires an understanding of the almost insurmountable obstacle presented at the outset—namely, the inability of the Republican party to function as a majority because of western insurgency and radicalism. To those who thought absolutely nothing would be accomplished, not even tax revision, the record is a pleasant surprise. To those who have become accustomed to a fair amount of new legislation and a showing, at least, on major issues such as agricultural relief, the session is an out-and-out failure.

What congress has done amounts to little compared to what might have been done had the Republican leadership been able to control its party membership in both houses.

FARM BILLS FAILED

First of all, congress adjourns without passing any of the agricultural bills. The McNary-Haugen bill was beaten in the house and lost in the senate. The McNary-Haugen bill, sponsored by Mr. Coolidge, was defeated in the senate. Even the more or less innocuous bills to coordinate the activity of the cooperative societies and organizations failed by the wayside. This gives the radicals their main talking point—congress has not acted affirmatively for the farmer.

As for railway legislation, a score of bills providing for a return to the states of certain rate-making powers failed to get to first base in this session and the much-mooted earning clause of the transportation act which the westerners wanted repealed was not even reported from committee. So the agricultural group suffered a real defeat which is making the conservatives happy. Indeed, the number of bills that were prevented from passing by conservative influence is amazingly large and to that extent the sins of omission are regarded as the threats of diabolic charges.

Congress did revise the tax law. Some members openly feared to attempt revision because of the flood of radical amendments anticipated but the law is an improvement over the old and the way is paved for correction or defects at the December session.

BONUS ANSWERS DEMAND

The granting of the bonus is a political achievement in which President Coolidge does not share, but it does represent the answer to a demand from one large element in the electorate. The immigration bill is another. Naturally the ill-will engendered by Japan is regretted even in congress but both houses were determined to do by law what they felt was unquestioned right and the administration now is trying to make the best of the situation by expressions of sorrow to Japan. No treaty will be attempted for the present and the hope is that time will heal the sores of illfeeling.

Perhaps the most important action of congress, viewed from the political angle, is that it adjourned in time for the two conventions. The Republican majority failed to support the leadership of President Coolidge on several important issues and the insurgents were preparing to continue in coalition with the Democrats the tactics of emergency. The opponents of the administration will use the early adjournment as proof of the failure of congress and will attempt to provoke a resentment vote.

FEDERAL SPONGE SQUAD MOPS TOWN

Eleven Men Taken in Six Places and Large Amount of Moon Confiscated

By Associated Press
Superior—Five federal prohibition agents and two superior police detectives swooped down on Oliver, a suburb, Friday night, arresting 11 men at 6 places and confiscating a large quantity of liquor. Two men escaped. Warrants have been issued for their arrest. The others will be arraigned Saturday before Charles M. Bishop, United States court commissioner, on charges of violating the national prohibition act.

The raid culminated operations of prohibition agents in Oliver during the week. They obtained enough evidence to convict every man arrested, according to their statements.

Charles Rebeck, one of those arrested who is the ex-president of the town of Oliver, recently was fined $200 in Duluth Municipal court when convicted on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor. He was arrested by Duluth police after a 17-mile chase, which started from Duluth and ended after he had tried to escape by going through Superior.

REPORT BRINGS OIL ROW BACK TO LIFE

Washington, D. C.—The bitter issues of the oil scandal, quiescent for weeks, suddenly were brought to life again Saturday when Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the inquiry, sought senate approval for the report written by him and approved by the majority of the oil committee.

Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri consistently has opposed Senator Walsh's position and objected to consideration of the report which charges serious irregularities in connection with negotiation of the Sinclair and Debeney leases by Albert B. Fall.

Tailor Offers To Hang In Place Of Murderers

Milwaukee Man Would Replace Franks Slayers on Gallows for $1,000,000 Given His Heirs

By Associated Press
Chicago—A letter purporting to have been written by Curt Gessler, Milwaukee, offering to substitute himself on the gallows for Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnappers and slayers of Robert Franks, if his heirs were given $1,000,000, was received by Morgan Collins, superintendent of police, Saturday.

It read:
"Chief of Police, Chicago:
"I have been reading about two boys, Loeb and Leopold, and the wealth of their parents, and I have come to the conclusion that in case of their conviction I am willing to take the place of one of the boys in case they are to be hung.
"If this can be legally arranged and the parents of one of the boys are willing to pay to my heirs $1,000,000 then I am ready to be hung any time the law is ready to call for me as there is no glory in life ahead of me.
"I am a tailor, 25 years old, well, strong, honest and a good citizen. I have worked since I was 12 years old and never harmed no one. The only crime I ever committed was working hard all my life.
"Respectfully,
"Curt Gessler,
647 West Nineteenth st.
"Milwaukee, Wis.
"P. S.—I am enclosing my picture for identification. Kindly notify parents of boys."

Milwaukee—Curt Gessler, a Milwaukee tailor, said he offered to substitute himself on the gallows for one of the slayers of Robert Franks, if his heirs were given $1,000,000, when found by newspaper men at a tailor shop admitted he had written the letter referred to. He refused, however, at the time to comment on the incident but offered to explain in detail at his boarding place which he gave as 647, Nineteenth.

"Yes, I wrote the letter," Gessler said. "I did it because I wanted to help my family in Germany and the poor tailors of America. I have been out of work. So have other tailors. Their lot is hard. I wanted to help them. It is my intention that half of the million dollars is to go my parents in Erfurt, Thuringia, Germany, and my five brothers and one sister there. The other half is to go to the poor tailors of America."

MUNICIPAL SALE OF GAS AWAITS RULING

Question of Cities' Right to Compete With Private Interests Is Questioned

By Associated Press
Madison—The question of whether Wisconsin cities have authority to purchase and sell gasoline in competition with commercial agencies has been placed before the attorney general's department for official ruling by Edward Nordman state commissioner of markets. It was learned from the marketing department Saturday. On the legal department's ruling will depend action of a number of Wisconsin cities that are contemplating entering the gasoline selling business, according to officials. Inquiries on the question have come from a number of cities of the state. Superior already has entered a contract for selling the product, according to reports. Cities in several other states already are carrying on such a movement to reduce the price of gasoline, officials said.

TRAIN CRASHES INTO AUTO AT SUPERIOR-ST

Aged Manitowoc Man Dies at Hospital Hour After Accident

VISITED DAUGHTER HERE

Young Woman in Serious Condition and Three Young Men Are Hurt

An old man's desire to greet his daughter on her birthday anniversary resulted in a journey of death when the automobile in which he and four other Manitowoc persons were riding was struck at Superior-st crossing about 8 o'clock Friday evening by a northbound Chicago and Northwest train.

All five occupants were alive when taken out of the wreckage of the car before a crowd awaiting the train's arrival at the depot, but one died within an hour. The others are at St. Elizabeth hospital, two of them, hurt badly. The automobile was dragged about 600 feet before the train stopped and reduced to a scrap heap. It is considered miraculous that more were not killed.

Victims of the accident are:
John Seiler, 70, died within an hour after arrival at the hospital from the severe shock. Had injury on forehead.
Eleanor Filger, 18. Severe wounds on face and ear; extensive wound on forehead; large gash in right leg extending to bone; contusion of spine. Condition critical.
Clifford Seiler, 22. Injured severely, large wounds on forehead and back. Fracture of leg, and body, scalp wounds. Condition serious but not dangerous.
Frank Filger, 20. Contusion of spine and hip, lacerations of various parts of body, possible injury to kidney. Condition not regarded as serious.
Anton Panosch, 24. Fracture of ribs, cuts and bruises on body. Not badly hurt.

VISITED DAUGHTER HERE

All five people live on a rural route just outside the city of Manitowoc. They left there late in the afternoon for Appleton in their Oldsmobile 5-cylinder touring car bound for the home of Mrs. Lelah Mortimer, 732 North Division st. Mrs. Mortimer is a daughter of John Seiler, who was killed, and a sister of Clifford Seiler. The journey was made in order to deliver some presents to the Appleton woman on her birthday anniversary.

A half hour's stay was made at the Mortimer home and the party then started back to Manitowoc. The car was going south on Superior-st with Panosch, owner of the machine, at the wheel. It was necessary to cross two sidetracks before reaching the main track, and freight and baggage cars were standing on both so as to prevent a view of the main line unless a driver were almost there. This crossing is protected by gates during the daytime only.

Panosch was accustomed to protected crossings in Manitowoc because most of the dangerous ones have flags, it is said, and believe there was no train approaching at Superior-st because the gates were not down.

TRIED TO DODGE ENGINE

J. C. Harth, 734 Clark-st, was an eye witness of the crash, as he and his wife and daughter were within 100 feet of the track on Superior st at the time. He declares that the automobile approached the right-of-way as though the driver was unaware of the crossing. Panosch realized his predicament too late. He swung

ASK MORE TIME TO COMPLETE WORK ON CHERRY-ST BRIDGE

Contractors Will Ask Council to Extend Time to September 1

An extension of time in which to complete the construction of the Cherry-st viaduct probably will be asked by the Wausau Iron works, it became apparent this week in a conference between Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and officials of the contracting firm.

According to contract, the bridge was to be completed by July 1. Owing to several delays, however, the contractors now will be unable to complete it until Sept. 1 at least, and an extension of time until that date will be asked at the next council meeting. The contract provides for a $25 a day penalty for every day of construction beyond the time limit specified. Provision will have to be made for payment of the services of W. H. Klyce, resident engineer of Harrington, Howard & Ashe, bridge engineers who drew the plans for the bridge. Since the engineer is paid on a contract percentage basis and his services ordinarily would terminate on July 1, according to the time limit fixed by contract. If the $25 a day penalty is imposed, the engineer will be paid out of the fines collected.

Pettibone's Model House

Now Under Construction in Bellaire Court
Is Offered for Sale Now---With Purchaser's Possession Sept. 1st

PETTIBONE'S Model House is offered for sale now! The terms of sale provide that the House shall be completed exactly according to announced specifications; and then exhibited to the public during the month of August. Possession will be given the purchaser September 1st. This early date allows the prospective owner to see the unusually sturdy details of construction that will soon be hidden under plaster and woodwork. By making an initial deposit in June—the purchaser of the Model House will be able to save interest on the amount of his deposit. A group of names has already been registered in the advertising office at Pettibone's. This list will soon be closed, and the sale of the Model House at its exact cost confined to one of the names on this list. Interested parties should register at once.

The Model House Will Be Completed July 31st and Exhibited All August

The Model House will be completely finished July 31st. It will probably be furnished for exhibition purposes. The building will be open for inspection during the month of August. The Interior Decoration Section plans to secure experts to give lectures in the House on subjects of interest to home-makers.

Although construction is now going on—the Model House can be inspected at any time during the day. Sunday is an especially favorable time to see the building and you are invited to go through the House tomorrow.

First Plumbing Fixtures Installed

The W. S. Patterson Company has completed the installation of plumbing pipes in the Model House. The built-in bath tub is also in position, as the plaster wall will extend down and around the edge of the tub. The furnace pipes, by A. Galpin's Sons, and the electric wiring by the Langstadt Electric Company are now completed. The concrete floor of the cellar was also finished this week.

SEE THE MODEL HOUSE TOMORROW

Grading Will Be Done Next Week

The lawn will be graded next week and the shade trees trimmed. It is planned to lay a quaint flagstone walk and a winding driveway in front of the house. These additions will be another distinctive touch. Wm. Nehls is now painting the exterior woodwork of the House, which will be a soft grey to harmonize with the mellow tones of the shingled walls.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR MAILMEN INDOORSED BY POSTAL PATRONS

Only 4 Out of 443 Patrons Object to Saturday Afternoon Vacations

An overwhelming majority of postal patrons having declared in favor of Saturday half-holiday for mail carriers during the summer months, a statement was issued by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke on Friday declaring that there will be no afternoon mail deliveries in Appleton between June 14 and Sept. 13.

A count of the ballots printed in the Post-Crescent and marked by 433 patrons of the Appleton postoffice showed that only four persons voted against the half holiday. The vote may not be considered large, but certainly everybody had sufficient opportunity to express his opinion in the matter, the postmaster remarked, and he believes that the silence on the part of those who did not vote is an indication that their opposition to the proposal can not be very strong.

Hereafter the second delivery in residence districts and the third delivery in the business district will be eliminated on Saturdays during the summer months. The second business delivery usually is completed by 12:30. In order that daily papers, otherwise delivered in the afternoon, may reach the patrons on Saturday morning, trucks will relay the newspapers to the carriers while on their routes Saturday mornings.

Postmaster Zuehlke advised that patrons who are in the habit of receiving weekend mail, notify their correspondents to write earlier or send mail by special delivery. Special delivery will be made on Saturday afternoons just as on Sundays and holidays. The regular evening collection of mail in the business district will be made at 7 o'clock each Saturday night.

The following two building permits were issued on Friday by the city building inspector:

Edna Ferber, With Hair Bobbed, Sails For Europe

Edna Ferber, former Appleton newspaperwoman, whose story, "So Big," now is running serially in the Post-Crescent, is about to sail, or may at the time of this writing already have sailed for Europe.

She will be gone until August when the rehearsals for "Old Man Minick" will begin and which she will attend assiduously. Her story by that name, which will be remembered by many Appleton readers, has been dramatized by Miss Ferber and George Kaufman. Dramatic critics predict it will be one of the hits of the next theatrical season.

The latest feminine news about Miss Ferber is that she "has gone ahead and had her hair shingled. It was this way: "I had a tea date at the Ritz," she says, "and I got there about a quarter of 8. Ed, the boy there, does everybody's hair, and I thought I'd just ask him if he thought I'd look an awful fright if I had mine off. He looked me over and said he thought it'd be a great architectural improvement. "How long does it take?" I said. "O, about fifteen or twenty minutes," he nonchalantly answered. "Shoot!" When mother saw me she cried for five minutes and then said accusingly, "But it makes you look so much younger."

The amazing sale of "So Big" surprises her. "I tried to get Doubleday not to publish it as a book. 'Nobody'll be interested in a worn-out old woman in a cabbage patch,' I told them." If "So Big" keeps up it will be the most popular novel of the year.

NEENAH GETS CLOSER TO SETTLING SCHOOL ROW

Neenah — Over an hour of argument at the regular June session of the common council Wednesday night on the school situation brought the project of adding to the housing facilities a little nearer completion.

The final agreement was that the council adopted a motion by Alderman Schmidt of the Fifth ward empowering Mayor George E. Sande to appoint a committee of three citizen representatives from each of the five wards of the city to meet with the board of education, draft a comprehensive building program embodying definite estimates of the cost of construction and maintenance of desired buildings and report back to the council.

This committee is to be created and get into action at once. Options which have been secured on a site for a new high school building expire on June 12, 20 and 21, and the need for haste was stressed.

COOLIDGE AND WHAT?

Next week the Republicans will gather at Cleveland to nominate a ticket and adopt a platform for the national election. The choice of Mr. Coolidge for president will be perfunctory. It will arouse some enthusiasm among the delegates, but the party leaders will look on with coolness and aloofness. They will be inspired to applause by the hope of party success in November rather than by delight over the nomination of Mr. Coolidge. It is a unique situation. These party chieftains have refused to accept Mr. Coolidge's leadership. They have turned against him on practically every one of his policies. Their influence has been reflected in congress, where on not one important measure before that body has there been agreement between the legislative and executive branches. But these politicians know that the administration without Coolidge is a failure, and that the Republican party is morally bankrupt. They know there is no possibility of winning the election without Coolidge; therefore they are willing to submerge their dislike of him and their conceptions of party policy in order to pull the party through in the fall.

They will not, however, insure victory in November merely by nominating Mr. Coolidge. The selection for Vice-president this year will have an important part in determining national confidence and approval of the ticket. People realize the possibility of a deadlock in the electoral college and the throwing of the election into the house of representatives. Therefore, they will take more than ordinary interest in the vice-presidential nominees. The platform will also be of importance and will either serve to strengthen or weaken the ticket. Although the people do not place great confidence in party professions, still there are some issues before the country in which the public is actively concerned, and expressions on these will be awaited with interest and will have a considerable bearing upon the popularity or unpopularity of the ticket. Upon the platform will depend the degree and extent of radical defection, as well as the formation of a third party with La Follette as its nominee.

The Republican convention next week is the beginning of what promises to be one of the most momentous campaigns in our history. A Republican victory in November is by no means assured. This will depend altogether on what the Republicans and Democrats do in their respective conventions, and on the course taken by Mr. La Follette and his followers.

WILL GERMANY EVER PAY?

Getting blood out of a turnip is easy, compared with extracting reparations from Germany. That much is becoming apparent, though it is hard to get at the truth. Both sides color their statistics. Figures do not lie, but liars figure, as Bin Hubbard remarks. In 1923, for instance, according to the reparations commission, the allies were able to squeeze out of Germany only about the equivalent of three and a quarter million dollars in cash reparations. The Germans, in addition, delivered 144 million dollars worth of manufactured goods and other commodities on reparations account. These two items do not include whatever France and Belgium were able to make in the way of profits out of their occupation of the Ruhr. By the time the expenses of the armies of occupation were paid, not much was left of net indemnity.

Up to the beginning of 1924, Germany had paid a total of only a little more than two million dollars, the reparations commission claims. A third of this amount was in the form of deliveries of ships, war materials, cables and territory including the Saar mines. Apparently Alsace-Lorraine was not included under surrendered territory. Nor the German colonies. These are worth billions. Even considering these figures with an allowance for propaganda, it is evident that Germany has not paid a cent more than she had to. For that matter, she never will. At the peace conference, European diplomats began talking about reparations of from 30 to 180 billion dollars. Some of the American financial experts who were present said: "Germany will pay five billion dollars cash surely, six billions possibly, but not more than seven." What Germany should pay and what she will pay, are separate and distinct matters.

All the gold that is left in Germany would not be a drop in the bucket compared with what the allies want, France in particular. How, then, will Germany pay? Her imports still are exceeding exports—unless she is juggling her figures, which is possible. The leading nations want Germany to sell goods abroad, build up favorable trade balances and turn the money over on her reparations account. Then the same nations surround themselves with high tariffs and every other conceivable fence to keep out German goods. They favor selling—but to some one else.

Skeptics have a suspicion that reparations payments will depend mainly on the length of time required until Germany will feel strong enough to point to her new crop of cannon fodder and announce that she is through paying. Possibly, as optimists hope, she will pay voluntarily. There are two uncertain factors in the reparations tangle. Both are matters of speculation. No one can say definitely whether France really wants reparations which can only come from a restored and powerful Germany, and no one can say whether Germany will in good faith make an effort to pay her obligations on any basis. The seriousness of this issue is second only to the seriousness of the war itself. Mighty forces are at work behind the scenes—forces which have to do with the status of Europe for generations to come. The outcome of this struggle will determine whether Europe is to have peace, if such a thing is possible, or whether it is due for a certain recurrence of the conflict that started in 1914.

$270 A SEAT

The Democratic national convention authorities present an original solution to the campaign fund quandary which this nation faces every four years. They offer seats for sale at their great spectacle June 24, with a $2,700 minimum for a ten-seat box, and as much more as you have to pay to get the seats away from the next highest bidder. This is vastly superior, it would seem, to placing influence, tariffs and offices under the auctioneer's hammer, the too frequent practice in times past.

If a candidate is elected president and finds himself bombarded by the requests of pocketbook supporters of the party, he will need only to keep a chart of Madison Square Garden before him. "Didn't the national committee give you Box Z-22 for your contribution?" he may inquire with great acidity. "What are you doing around here, asking me for an ambassadorship in Argazile?" And to another: "Didn't we put you right up where you could see the doings? You're paid, so forget about the tariff protection to your cotton shoelaces."

Of course there may be difficulties in the application of this ingenious method of paying election debts before election. But it must be admitted that it possesses great advantage over the time honored custom of paying them afterwards.

The British are going to repeal their war tax on musical instruments, so may lose a little sleep over the result.

Health Talks

A COUGH, A WHEEZE AND A BREATH OF AIR. I earnestly advise all old fogies whose interest may be caught by the title to skip this article for it will only add to their general acerbity. Old age is a state of mind primarily, and one of the surest signs of its onset is to consider oneself old. If you intend to resist it in spite of this warning, at least let me prepare your mind by recalling my crazy belief and teaching, namely, that no illness is ever caused by exposure to cold, wet, dampness, draft or change of weather, excepting frostbite, of course. I would go further, for this occasion and state as a premise, this proposition: No injury to health is done by such casual exposure to rain, wet, wind, cold or chilling as one necessarily encounters now and then if one cultivates the habit of taking the air for health's sake. What follows will merely mystify or annoy you if you cannot accept this premise. So read it at your own risk.

Climate is an important factor in the treatment of certain diseases and particularly chronic bronchitis. I offer no criticism of the climate of any place in the temperate zone. Almost any spot between the twentieth and fiftieth parallels is a good climate for one with chronic bronchitis. Southern California, elevated places in the West Indies, Egypt and the tablelands of South Africa are famous for the sorts where the climate is dry and bracing. The sorts where the climate is in the United States and Canada, are excellent for persons with chronic bronchitis or bronchiectasis (ballooning of bronchial tubes). Many subjects of chronic bronchitis, who can afford the time, spend their winters in Bermuda, Florida, Havana or Panama, where they are not afraid to take the air, which is fully warranted by the Chambers of Commerce and the Booster associations.

Here at home the winter is spoiled for folks obsessed with a weatherphobia, the air containing a wee mite more aqueous vapor—a deadly thing according to our best fairy tale tales of olden and that probably has everything to do with the greater vigor and industry of people who live in the forty-to-forty-fifth belt.

When there is profuse perspiration associated with bronchitis or bronchiectasis, a drier climate is generally chosen, such as that of Colorado, Arizona, Texas, Mexico, inland parts of southern California and Egypt.

If mere dryness were the sole desideratum, that could be assured for every subject of bronchitis by keeping the household temperature a few paces above the hygienic limit throughout the winter. The hygienic limit for household temperature is 68 degrees Fahrenheit. Air heated above 70 is always extremely dry. Air heated up to 75, as it is in some misguided households, rivals the aridity of the desert. But unfortunately overheating of the air is so depraving to the general health that this practice must be scrupulously avoided by persons with bronchial trouble.

The quest for the best climate is generally an experiment. The more we study the influence of climate the stronger grows the conviction that in any case that climate in which the individual will spend the greatest number of hours in the open air and sunlight is the best for what ails him. So if one can entirely shake off the fear of "exposure," cold, dampness, wind and weather, the climate here at home, where we all manage to keep fairly well, is as salutary as anything to be found far away. Only they always look better when they're far away.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Another Victim of Barber's Fad
I had my hair cropped the other day, it seemed to be split and very thin, but now I am sorry, as I am over 60 years old and some people tell me it will never grow again. Do you think that is true? (Mrs. D. R. S.)

Answer.—Your hair may still grow some, though probably not to its former length. Fortunately for the credulous sex and those of us who used to find them easy to look at, the artificial limb makers have not launched a movement to popularize slight limping and cork feet. Such feet would be so much easier to keep neatly dressed and all that sort of thing.

Good evening, people! Have you observed that the same man who has been carrying out the ashes a few weeks ago now is having to cut the lawn?

Our idea of a man who has absolutely nothing to do and who is superior to all worries of work and time limits is the man who reads the Congressional Record.

DEFINITION
A poet is a person who in springtime writes a sonnet, and sends it to a lady, who would rather have a bonnet.

Some motorists think it is not enough to have an automobile in order to see the beautiful scenery of the country. One must also be an expert billiard player.

On the day of the big Guernsey picnic, June 17, Clintonville will be decorated to give it an "atmosphere" of welcome, so an exchange informs us. If they decorate the city with Guernseys, there will be an atmosphere all right, and who knows but that some will even find a welcome in it?

"All are welcome on the big day, Tuesday, June 17, when Clintonville will act as host and turn the city over to the people who raise beautiful lawn colored cattle and their friends." Adv. for Clintonville Guernsey picnic.

Wrecking the building formerly occupied by Bach on Oneida street means the passing of the cigar store—Indian.

A man down the street in reply to a reporter's question as to whether he had heard of any accidents, said an accident had befallen him. He was surprised by friends on his fifteenth wedding anniversary. Man, that was no accident. The accident happened 15 years ago.

Reflex: Durned if that fellow who wrote the Back Porch song wasn't a bright chap after all. I thought it was a foolish girl until he and a good looking girl couldn't find a bench left in City park and natchery the back porch was good enough.

Sign on Cherry-st bridge, words of which in effect read: "Emil Walthe has written the surety bonds for this bridge. On the job since 1903."

Usually when a man is hauled in Judge Spencer's court, a man's first defense is an air of offended dignity.

ALL RIGHT, JUDGE, WHO IS THE RIGHTFUL AND LEGITIMATE HEIR

Saturday Sermon

(The following sermon was prepared for the Post-Crescent by Dr. H. E. Probst, pastor of the First Congregational church.)

Proverbs 14:24 Righteousness exalteth a nation. Patriotism and religion, nations together. Ever since the days of exalted patriotism of the ancient Hebrews the finest patriotism has had religion at its heart. Our nation was founded by the Pilgrim fathers on that principle. They came as exiles from a land that would not give them freedom to put, first of all, obedience to almighty God, according to the dictates of their own conscience. They founded on this continent a nation that believed it served its own welfare best by always putting God and conscience first in the hearts of its people. It has been the American way to believe that righteousness exalteth a nation. There have always been some, and there are some today who are propagating the un-American principle "My country, right or wrong," but that is a perverted patriotism.

We have always believed that righteousness exalteth an individual, but some, especially some diplomats, would have us think that polite lying, and over-reaching a competitor and bull-dozing a neighbor exalteth a nation.

NEED HIGHER DEVOTION

Theodore Roosevelt rendered America a great service by proclaiming everywhere that right and wrong in conduct applied to nations, as well as to individuals. There is great need today that religion should support this kind of patriotism. Let us summon every citizen to this higher devotion to his country.

This is the more necessary because there are blundering vicious kinds of patriotism at work among us well meaning perhaps, but undermining the moral health of the nation. "O liberty," said a wise man, "how many crimes have been committed in thy name." Likewise it needs to be said, "O patriotism how many crimes have been committed in thy name."

Now righteousness in national terms means honest work and the spirit of service both among ourselves and with all nations. Honest work and the spirit of service.

It means that first of all at home. Once more it was Roosevelt who said, "every citizen should pull his own weight and something more." A loaf is not a good patriot whether he be a millionaire fiddling away his time at Newport or a wage-earner slowing up his job at a blast furnace.

"SOMETHING MORE"

He must pull his own weight and something more. And that something more, for the general good is what makes a republic possible. A family would not endure if each member pulled only his own weight—there could be no family life—there could be no care of the child or the unfortunate. The family would break up.

Likewise a nation cannot endure if the average citizen pulls only his own weight, just seeks to make money and enjoy life for himself. Wherever you find a true patriot, you find one who first of all pulls his own weight, and also, on principle and in the spirit of service, does some good, gives some of his money and his strength for the general good.

This why we are glad to honor, especially on Memorial day, those who bravely gave their country service beyond their individual needs, who doing nothing just because we differ in details.

One serviceable step toward bringing the nations out of their contentions is mutual fear. It does the world good when both Presidents Harding and Coolidge have advocated. That seems to be the next step. Others will follow. The direction of our advance is plain. Hard work and the spirit of service will bring us to the brotherhood of man at last.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent, Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haslin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Are there any games played by children to-day that were played in the time of the Romans? M. C.

A. The games of jacks, ball and jumping rope were played by the children of the Romans.

Q. Where is the silver market? F. T. A. London has always been known as the silver market until the war when it changed to New York City; however, it is now back in London and quotations depend entirely on the price of silver.

Q. How many Mormon temples are there in the United States? C. K. O.

A. There are at present six Mormon temples. The first was built, 1836, at Kirtland, Ohio. In 1846 one was built at Nauvoo, Illinois. In 1853 the great temple at Salt Lake City was dedicated, and completed in 1893. Other temples in Utah are: St. George, 1877; Logan, 1884; Mant, 1888.

Q. What is a joint tariff? J. K. C. A. If a tariff quota is a through rate in which two or more railroads are involved it is known as a joint tariff and is filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission; in other words, if the commodity starts with one carrier and terminates with another it is a joint tariff.

Q. How many acres of land in the country are used in raising tobacco from which cigarettes are made? W. V. R.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that the combined acreage of the principal cigarette types—barley and flue-cured tobacco—is 1,168,000 acres last year. The domestic and foreign demand for cigarettes is such that planters are increasing their acreage.

34 Girls On Roster For Lake Camp

Thirty-four camp fire girls and girls scouts signed up for their annual camp at Onaway island during the first registration week which closed Saturday. Of these, 20 are certain to remain for the two weeks. A large number of members or groups have signified their intention of going to camp for the two weeks period. Practically every girl who was at camp last year who is going again this year will remain the entire time of camp.

Mrs. Richard Meyer will be the camp mother for the two weeks which begin on July 13. Last year the camp was run entirely by the counselors but the office of camp mother was instituted this year. Mrs. Meyer will assist with the nature study also. Miss Jennie VanWyck will be the nurse. Miss Gladys Yates will be the singing leader this year while Miss Vivian Morrow and Miss Lona Drabham will be in charge of arts and crafts. Miss Muriel Kelly is to run the camp newspaper and have charge of the work in amateur photography.

Other counselors whose work has not yet been assigned to them include Mrs. Henry Meyer, Jr., the Misses Laura Rogers, Florence Bradley, Cecil Halls, Gladys Krahmold, Isabel Mihalup and Mrs. Carl Rahlstrom. The counselors will remain for the two weeks period. It is possible that one or two more who will have special work in charge will be added to the staff.

Miss Marie Helmenan, physical education director of Appleton Womens club will be in charge of the swimming and water sports. Miss Eleanor Halls, also a recreation director of the club and commissioner of girl scouts in Appleton will be in charge of the camp also. The camp is made possible only through the cooperation of Appleton Womens club in lending its recreation directors to plan the camp program and to take charge of it.

The capacity of Onaway island is 80 girls. The girl scout and camp fire camp probably will have more than 100 during the two weeks. It is possible for a girl to go to camp for one week but the directors are urging those who can arrange it to stay the entire camping period. The camp fund which is being collected in the small tents placed in hotels will be used to help some girls who cannot afford to go to be at the camp.

Issue Tickets At Bible School For Field Day

A large attendance is in prospect at the first congregational Sunday school at 9:30 Sunday morning because it will be the occasion for distribution of tickets to the youngsters for free refreshments at the annual church field day Saturday, June 14 at Pierce park. Each will be given five tickets to be used at the stand.

An excellent program of amusements is being arranged for the field day by M. N. Basing, chairman of the events committee. The games and contests are to start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Prizes are to be given the winners in each event.

Each family is to take its basket supper to the park and hot coffee will be served by a committee of women.

HELPED HER IN EVERY WAY

So Writes Mrs. Trombley of Sharon, Vt., Concerning Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sharon, Vermont.—"I was weak and run-down, had a tired feeling and bearing-down pains. I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began taking it. It has stopped these bearing-down pains and other bad feelings, and has helped me in every way. I have so much faith in the Vegetable Compound that I keep it on hand all of the time and recommend it whenever I have the opportunity."—Mrs. LEWIS TROMBLEY, Sharon, Vermont.

"Glad to Help Others
"I had pains in my back and sides for many months, and my work would have to be left undone at those times. My sister told me what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing her, so I tried it, and from the third bottle I was well and every one thought I looked better. I am glad to help others regain their health, and you may use my testimony."—MABEL HARTMANN, 1824 Greene Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. You must believe that a medicine that has helped other women will help you.

The Tangle

I must talk to you, dear little Marquise, even though I am bored to death with my troubles.

I could hardly wait until Jack came home to tell him my fears of Paula Perier wanting the baby. Jack, however, did not come home until late and by that time I was nearly in a state of hysteria.

"Goodness, Leslie, why did you stay up for me? I told you I was going to be very late," Jack exclaimed.

He bent down to kiss me and I found he had been drinking.

"Jack, you promised me you would never drink anything outside of your own home," I reminded him.

These were the first words I spoke and they seemed to infuriate Jack past all control.

"Why do you try to have me make impossible promises, Leslie? You might know, if you had any reasoning power at all or any knowledge of men, that when a man makes a promise purely at some woman's request his first inclination as soon as he is out of her sight is to break it. I cannot go to any man's apartment without being asked to drink nowadays and I do not want to look like a fool by refusing perfectly good liquor," he said in that ugly tone that I had grown to connect with great anger on his part.

Usually, little Marquise, I keep perfectly calm when I know that Jack is in one of his black rages, but I had been so worried and anxious since Ruth left and until he came home that I blurted out, "Ruth says—"

I did not get any further—"I don't care a damn what Ruth says. I thought I told you it would be very much against my will if you ever spoke to her again."

"If you will remember, Jack, I told you I would not give up Ruth. If you do not care what Ruth says, you probably will care to know that Ruth insists that you pay her six thousand dollars of hers that you have in your possession at the present moment."

"The money isn't here. It is mine," he replied quickly.

"What reason have you for thinking it is yours, Jack?"

You know very well that she could not sell six thousand dollars worth of women's lingerie in one day."

"Well, she sold over eight thousand dollars worth today."

"Then she had better be paying some of her husband's debts."

"Ruth Ellington is under no obligation to pay her husband's debts. He left her without cent, and when he left he took another woman with him. Don't you think he treated her worse than he treated you? She is a very wonderful woman, and she says—"

"I tell you I won't hear what that woman says."

"You will have to, Jack, for what she says is very vital, not only to our happiness but to your reputation."

KROMER ADDING
SLUGGERS TO HIS BASEBALL SQUAD

Kaukauna Magnate Hopeful of Getting into Win Column on Sunday

Kaukauna—The Electric City state league baseball team is rapidly adding the punch necessary to put it in the state league class, according to Manager Stormy Kromer, who has declared his team is all set for its first win of the season Sunday when it meets Green Bay on the latter's lot. Stormy thinks Clarence Pocan will develop into one of the hardest hitters in the league. Pocan is property of Otto Borchardt's Milwaukee Brewers and will be given a trial soon.

Acornbals, a corner, a product of the Northwestern league, is laying out the pill for a .750 average. With "Bud" Sager, a local player, who hit his stride last Sunday and bunted the ball over the fence off Jones' delivery at Fond du Lac, Kaukauna will have at least a few heavy hitters.

Norman Clausman, who leads the home-players league in hitting, also should be an asset to the local club as soon as he, with the others "get on" to the speed of the circuit pitchers.

Raymond Gertz continues to do good work on the hill. For a youngster Gertz should receive credit for the manner in which he has baffled the old timers of the wheel, thinks Stormy. It was not poor pitching but lack of judgment on the part of the team which has lost games thus far.

Stormy has arranged his batting order for Sunday's tilt at Green Bay. It is as follows: E. Sager, 1st; Zink, 2d; Stumpf, 3d; Pocan, 4th; Korhals, 5th; Clausman, 6th; Phillips, 7th; A. Sager, 8th; Gertz, 9th.

FOR BODY OF PRINTER

Menasha—Police on Friday abandoned dragging of the north branch of the Fox river here in an effort to find the body of Carl Lyle, a printer who has not been seen since last Saturday night. An empty row boat which drifted against the lock tender's shanty here Sunday night was found to be the property of Maurice Dyer and the description of the man who drowned it tallies with that of Lyle.

Search rates here are closed and no more drowning theory is correct. Lyle is believed to be in the water somewhere near where the tragedy occurred.

BREAKS RECORD FOR ASCENT OF MOUNTAIN

Stromberg Carburetor Great Aid in Record Breaking Event

Ralph Mulford, daring race driver, recently established a record of 17 minutes flat, for the ascent of Mt. Washington, N. H., according to Mr. Schroeder of the Willard Battery Station Representative for the Stromberg Motor Devices Company here.

Mulford used a stock model Chandler touring car with standard gear ratio.

The old record of 30 minutes, 58-2, fifth seconds was made in 1905 by W. H. Millard, of Boston, using a special racing car. Numerous attempts to break this record have failed.

Mr. Washington is the highest accessible peak East of the Rockies. Mayor Paul Hines of the Mass. National guard accompanied Mulford and acted as official Observer and Timekeeper.

The road is particularly rough and has many dangerous curves and turns.

"A test of this kind the Carburetor plays a very important part," declared Mr. Schroeder "as the throttle is constantly opened and closed and the carburetor must be perfect so that it responds instantly and feeds just the proper amount of gasoline into the engine at the exact minute it is needed."

The Stromberg O.E. 2 carburetor with 1 1/4" intake is the standard equipment on all Chandler cars.

The Willard Battery Station carries a complete stock of Stromberg Carburetors for every make of car, as well as offering expert carburetor service for all Stromberg users.

BALLOON TIRES NOW STANDARD WITH REO

After a period of six months during which genuine balloon tires have been selective equipment on Reo passenger cars at an additional cost, the Reo Motor Car Company has now announced that the balloons will be standard equipment on passenger cars in its line at no extra charge. List prices on all models remain unchanged.

"Before we offered genuine balloons as selective equipment," says H. T. Thomas, Vice President and Chief Engineer of the Reo Motor Car Company, "tests on factory-owned cars and in our laboratories had convinced us that these tires, as supplied to Reo, were right from standpoints of economy, safety and comfort."

"We did not wish to press the public into accepting this equipment until it was generally known—not just among our men in the industry—that balloons were the next logical step in automobile progress, however, and for this reason we have chosen to place them on our cars at no extra charge."

"In the first place, Reo cooperated with the manufacturers by adopting a standard size as proposed by one of the leading manufacturers. This size, 620, on 20 inch wheels, is standard not in the sense that it is one of the twenty-three standards which have been the nightmare of the industry during the winter and spring, but in that it is one of the five sizes recommended by the engineers who perfected genuine balloon tires for motor car use."

"The size to be selected from these five actual standards is determined by the weight of the car, 620 being the one adopted to Reo models both open and closed."

"More important is the fact that through some good fortune, Reo design is admirably suited to the use of low-pressure tires. Chassis features that have been used by Reo for a number of years served to give that complete balance that is almost desirable in cars fitted with genuine balloon tires."

"A low center of gravity and a nearly straight-line drive resulting from Reo's famous double frame construction are responsible for the ideal manner in which genuine balloon tires adapt themselves to Reo models."

"The Reo steering mechanism is easily fitted to function correctly with genuine balloon tires and this together with our spring suspension gives us still another mechanical feature which makes balloon tire equipment readily adaptable to Reo design."

"Reo success with genuine balloon tires plus demand for this equipment but low-pressure tires for our passenger cars. This we believe to be one of the most important steps in our twenty years of motor car building."

"Upon checking over our sales records we find that the demand for genuine balloon tire equipment on our passenger car models has been that the adoption of balloons is the so overwhelming and so far above the demand for the regular pneumatic only logical step for us to take."

NEW OFFICERS FOR CHRYSLER MOTOR CO.

Detroit, June.—Announcement is made by Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the Maxwell-Chrysler-Chalmers board of directors, that J. E. Fields has been elected vice-president in charge of the corporations' sales, and that Fred M. Zeder has been elected vice-president in charge of engineering. Mr. Fields has been general sales manager and Mr. Zeder chief engineer.

"The remarkable abilities shown by Mr. Zeder and Mr. Fields since they assumed charge of the engineering and sales departments of the entire corporation five months ago is responsible for this promotion," says Mr. Chrysler.

To the industry, generally, the rapid promotion of the two men will be important news, though it has been frequently predicted by Maxwell-Chrysler executives for some time, owing to the outstanding improvements, particularly in the Maxwell division, in sales, merchandising and engineering, which the two have sponsored and carried out.

Mr. Fields joined Maxwell 18 months ago as a sales director. He was chosen to take charge of the corporations' combined sales departments following the sudden death of Arthur E. Barker in January. For 16 years, beginning with the old Thomas-Detroit Company, he has been intimately associated with the problems of motor car distribution—as dealer, territorial manager and sales manager. It is believed that he knows more automobile dealers and distributors than any other man in the industry, as well as having an intimate first-hand knowledge of their problems.

Mr. Zeder's motor car engineering experience has been of similar duration. For years he has been internationally recognized by the automotive industry as one of its outstanding engineering authorities.

The advent of the Chrysler Six focused public recognition upon his ability far above that of any of his previous achievements. He and his associates—Carl Breer and O. R. Skelton, his chief assistants in the corporations' engineering organization—have in the last few months, come to be accepted by the industry and public alike as the originators of an improved type of motor car engineering and designing which is bound to influence the entire engineering and designing of motor cars, both here and abroad.

Mr. Zeder and his two chief associates allied themselves with Mr. Chrysler four years ago. They later gave up their business as general consulting engineers to the entire automotive industry at the insistent plea of Mr. Chrysler. Even at that time he recognized in them the engineering genius that he had determined to inject into a car that was about to be built, and that was to bear his name and be a monument to him. Since their contribution to the Chrysler Six to the industry, the trio have been sweeping improvements in the good Maxwell. These have, in recent months, brought that car wide-spread recognition as an improvement on all past performance of four-cylinder cars, and further enhanced the reputation it has been establishing for itself ever since Mr. Chrysler became head of Maxwell.

Mr. Chrysler's ability to attract to him outstanding figures in the entire automobile world has been the source of considerable comment for some time. Two other recent additions of men of foremost importance in the industry are R. H. Collins, former president of Buick, Cadillac and Peerless, now the Maxwell-Chrysler-Chicago distributor, and Jno. D. Mansfield, former Dort executive, as president and general manager of the Maxwell-Chalmers Company of Canada Ltd., of Windsor, Ont.

FLORIDA TO PENNSY
5 PEOPLE—$23.25

It looks as if George Beasnon of Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania, had reduced the cost of "seeing America first" to the minimum. He drove himself, his wife, son and two daughters, all of them, full grown people—500 pounds of luggage, from Citra, Florida, to Wilkes Barre in northern Pennsylvania, at a total cost of $23.25. That included $5.00 for a spring that cracked under the strain of an unseen chubbie. The total distance was 1,539 miles, for which the party used 65 gallons of gasoline, averaging a little over 22 1/2 miles, and 5 quarts of oil, averaging better than 207 miles a quart.

The Beasnon family's trip was made in a Dort car which Mr. Beasnon purchased second-hand in November, 1922. It had gone 6,000 miles then. When it left Citra last month the mileage was 24,500.

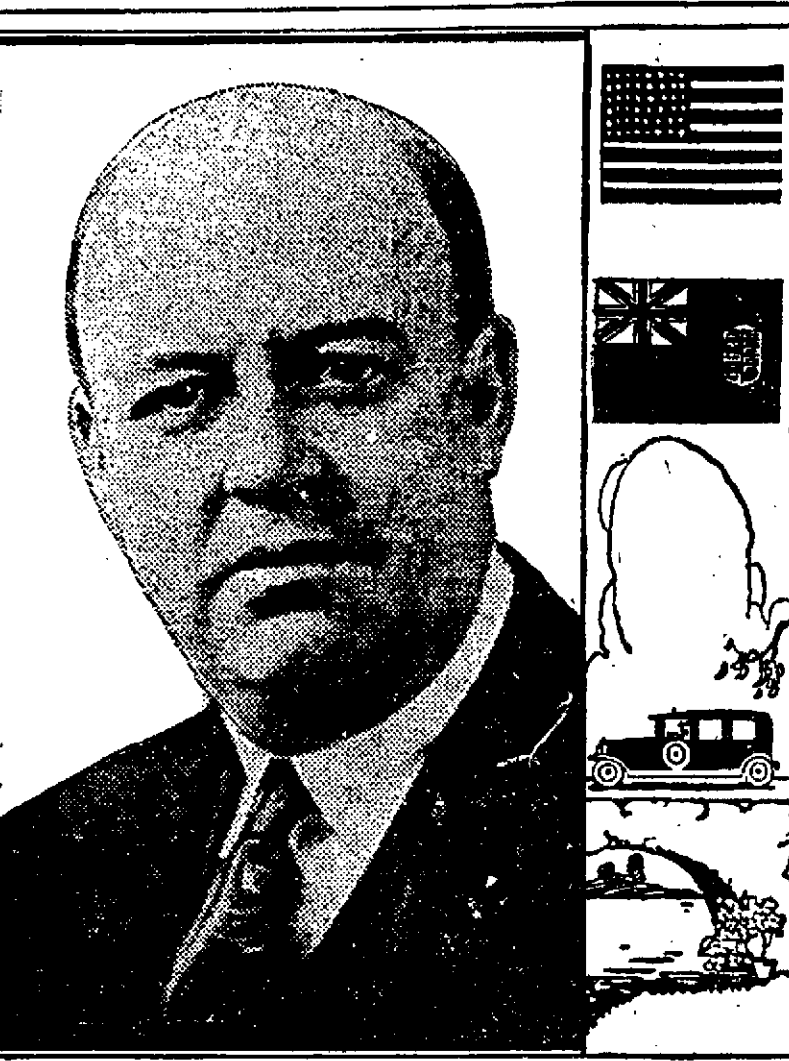

Mr. Beasnon's feat is pretty close to a record in low-cost travel, and will give this summer's travel a good mark to shoot at.

A total cost per person 4.65 for a fifteen hundred mile trip is mighty close to free traveling. Mr. Beasnon does not state what he and his family ate, if anything, en route.

Jno. D. Mansfield Joins Walter P. Chrysler

JNO. D. MANSFIELD

Jno. D. Mansfield, one of the best known men in the automotive industry in Canada, has been elected president and general manager of the Maxwell-Chrysler Motor Company, of Canada, Limited, with headquarters at Windsor, Ontario.

Mr. Mansfield is a native of Missouri and had his first job with a carriage manufacturing company. In 1896 he became associated with W. C. Durant, J. D. Dort and C. W. Nash in what was known as the Durant-Dort Carriage Company. In 1911 he was made general sales manager and a director of the company.

Mr. Mansfield had his first automobile experience in 1915 when with Mr. Dort and others he helped to organize the Dort Motor Car Company, of Flint, Michigan. In 1918 Mr. Mansfield became identified with the Gray-Dort Motors, Limited, of Chatham, Ontario. This year he was named head of the Maxwell-Chrysler organization in Canada.

Mr. Mansfield is the second big automobile man to become associated with Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor Corporations, in recent weeks. The first was Richard H. Collins, whose name is associated with Buick, Cadillac and Peerless.

The Maxwell and Chrysler companies have a plant at Windsor and have a substantial business throughout Canada.

HYDRAULIC BRAKES USED BY MOON

Geo. H. Kublin, Chief Engineer of Moon Motor Car Company gives the following information concerning hydraulic four-wheel brakes of the Lockheed type, used by Moon, as opposed to all other types of four-wheel brakes.

Through the hydraulic principle, the brakes are equalized perfectly and automatically on all four wheels at all times.

The same braking pressure is applied to each wheel and released instantly when the brake pedal is released.

Chances of skidding under any conditions are greatly lessened.

Practically all friction is eliminated, whereas in mechanical brakes about 20 per cent of the power, applied on the foot pedal, is lost because of friction. There is no dragging when the brakes are released, besides being less complicated and requiring practically no adjustment, operate more efficiently and with less attention from the driver.

The degrees of safety of any brakes, says Kublin, depends almost entirely on the degree to which they equalize. In other words, the same braking pressure, should be applied to both rear wheels, in the case of two-wheel brakes, or to all wheels in the case of four-wheel brakes, to get the greatest effectiveness and the highest degree of safety. The factor of safety in Lockheed hydraulic brakes is unusually high.

The hydraulic four-wheel braking system used by MOON always equalized perfectly and automatically without constant adjustment. Few brakes, if any, that are not hydraulic can so equalize, because only the hydraulic principle provides perfect and constant automatic equalization. The only adjustment to be made on Moon's four-wheel hydraulic brakes is on the brake bands themselves and is practically the same adjustment that is made on ordinary two-wheel brakes.

Any garage mechanic can make the adjustment quickly and easily when it becomes necessary. Motor car drivers and owners and every one who has the maintenance of a motor car in their charge will appreciate the freedom from lubrication worries for the MOON hydraulic brake system requires no lubrication whatever, and with the elimination of various working parts, rattles are eliminated.

The fluid used in operating hydraulic brakes is contained in a tank located on the dash under the hood, and in tubes leading to each brake. Approximately one quart of fluid, composed of equal parts of glycerine or castor oil and alcohol, operates the entire system. In case of emergency, common lubricating oil can be used temporarily instead of the fluid.

A REAL CAR FOR REAL SALESMEN

I haven't traveled ten miles in a train in four years! Yet I cover three times as much territory as did the salesman who formerly had to handle my trade, and who, to use his own words, "practically grew up in a day coach!" And, incidentally, my expenses are a great deal lower, my work a great deal easier, and my sales are a great deal larger. Explain it? Certainly—a motor car!

I'm not writing this article to exploit the economies of motor travel for commercial purposes. The superiority of the automobile is too obvious. It has been proven too well to need recounting here. But what I do want to tell you about is why I drive the car I do, and why I believe it is the best travel investment any salesman can make.

Of course, most every salesman is more or less prejudiced in his choice of things. But if he is shrewd, hard-headed business man to whom dependable transportation is a vital asset, and not a pastime, and he is willing to give the other fellow's line the same chance he would want for his own a few miles in a Durant Business Coupe will make him a dyed-in-wool enthusiast for the car.

He will appreciate as quickly as I did that it really is a salesman's car, that it is built exactly as any salesman drawing from his wealth of experience, would design a car himself if it were possible. I didn't choose my Durant just because they call it a Business Coupe. It takes more than a name to make a car. I didn't choose it just because it is one of the best looking coupes I ever saw; or just because it is so easy riding, or because of its rugged power and remarkable economy. The fact that it has loads of storage space for sample cases, or that the upholstery is particularly fine didn't get my name on the dotted line or the purchase order.

I've been selling roads too long myself to be stampeded into buying by some glittering feature that so often blinds one to others less desirable.

I purchased my Durant not because of any one of these features, but because of all of them! Its well groomed appearance has been just as valuable to me as any of its other splendid features. My customers are naturally impressed when they see more than a name to make a car. It gains me a lot of respect and attention from just those whose attention and respect I need the most.

Its wonderful power has enabled me to plow over some of the country roads in my territory that most of the time look more like rivers than highways. That's more than a lot of other salesmen, who I pass regularly with their cars stuck deep in the mud can say. If there is any place that power counts, that's one place the Durant proves it power!

Yet it hasn't cost me a young fortune to have and enjoy this power. I've noticed that a lot of traveling acquaintances, visiting some of those well-known "resort" cars shut up

RADIO EQUIPPED CARS ROUND UP BANDITS

Detroit Police Department Uses Lincoln Motor Cars

Radio and the automobile have been combined by the Detroit Police Department into an effective means of chasing and capturing bandits.

Three Lincoln touring cars, especially equipped for the work, patrol Detroit's streets twenty-four hours a day ready to respond to the radio alarm as it is broadcast from police headquarters.

Each car carries besides the driver, a detective lieutenant and two plain clothes men. The receiving set, with loud speaker attachment, is in constant tune with headquarters, receiving all reports as fast as they come in to the police.

It was only a few nights after the new police flyers had begun patrolling when a "drug store" hold-up was reported. Within a moment the silent call was going out over the city from the police broadcasting station. It was picked up by one of the flyers and thirteen minutes after the robbery had been committed the two robbers had been run down and captured, their car seized and the stolen money recovered.

In selecting a car for the arduous duties which the flyers are called upon to perform, officials of the police department decided upon Lincoln as affording the best performance and the highest speed.

Specifications for the cars required a speed of 75 miles an hour and in tests held just before delivery was made all the cars did better than 80 miles an hour, speedometers reading between 83 and 84 miles an hour.

The radio aerial is placed on the top of the car between the inner and outer fenders with which lead wire coming down at the rear above the back seat. The radio set is fitted into a special compartment in the back of the front seat at the top and is set in constant tune with the police broadcasting station. A loud speaker is used so that all officers in the car may hear reports from headquarters, thus affording greater assurance of messages being correctly received.

The frame of the car forms the counterpoise. The A battery is concealed in the left hand door shield and a wet B battery is arranged under the front seat.

The special equipment of the Lincoln flyers, all provided under police specifications, includes, bullet proof windshield, spot lights on either side of the windshield frame, a gun rack at the heel board of both the front and rear seats, an Arctore police whistle connected with the exhaust and having two controls on the instrument board, and cabinets on each front fender for carrying electric lanterns.

The cars are standard Lincoln touring cars with outside door handles to facilitate entrance and egress and extra handles on the top of the front seat so officers may gain a quick hold. The cars are painted blue and each carries two spare tires.

BUICK HEAD SPIKES INFRINGEMENT TALK

To Dealers and Customers:

While we realize that unfair methods employed by any company or individual will act as a boomerang and eventually retard the prosperity of the originator, we feel called upon at this time to state that reports being circulated to the effect that the Buick Company has been sued by one of its competitors for patent infringement is absolutely untrue and without foundation in any way shape or manner.

As long as the buying public continues to appreciate our present design, as it certainly seems there is no intention on the part of this company to make any radical changes.

We feel that you are entitled to the above information as a contradiction to propaganda being circulated by competitors who desire to retard our sales. You can emphatically state that such reports are absolutely without foundation whatsoever.

Very truly yours,
H. H. BASSETT
President and General Manager.

like a clam whenever we get to comparing maintenance figures around a hotel lobby at night.

When I draw up in front of a customer's place my outfit doesn't look like a cross between an express wagon and a Christmas tree with sample cases hanging on all sides. My stuff is tucked away neatly out of sight in the spacious compartments. I've driven the car a year, yet the upholstery is in fine condition, the motor just as smooth as velvet and the transmission and rear axle so quiet I've forgotten all about them. In fact, the whole car is in tip-top shape. Yet it's had enough rough use and abuse to make any other car I ever driven look sick!

I'm not surprised at the service I have received from my Durant. I expected it. It's merely proof of a wise purchase.

Whenever a salesman, a bit down in the mouth asks my advice I always say: "The quickest way to get back on your feet is to get off them! Buy a Durant Business Coupe!" And I'm passing the same recipe along to you!

OLDS DISTRIBUTORS INCREASING DAILY

In the past six months the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan, has increased the number of Oldsmobile dealers 65 per cent, has reduced dealer turnover to a negligible amount, and bettered the personnel of its selling force, Leon Dodge, assistant sales manager of the factory reports.

"In a recent interview, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, indicated a trend toward higher automobile prices, and declared the increased cost of distribution was one of the chief reasons why this would be necessary," said Mr. Dodge.

"The Olds Motor Works anticipated this condition and for months has been working toward the formation of an efficient, and therefore economical, dealer organization. It is our theory that the factory is only as strong as are its dealers, and for that reason we have laid particular stress on appointing only dealers who are substantial business men. On the other hand, we believe we owe the maximum of service to our dealers, and exact no unreasonable conditions. We have a force of field men who devote their time to helping dealers increase their business. Only by such co-operation on an efficient organization be created."

The large increase in the number of Oldsmobile dealers is particularly striking, indicating that the trade generally has recognized the sales possibilities of this low priced six-cylinder Oldsmobile. There were 1387 Oldsmobile dealers while today there are 2200 with direct franchise and 250 additional associate dealers. The majority of new dealers have been placed in the rural sections of the country where there is a heavy demand for Oldsmobiles, Mr. Dodge reports.

CHEVROLET SALES UNDER NEW HEAD

Effective May 1st, Mr. R. H. Grant was given entire charge of Chevrolet Motor Company's Sales Department, as Vice-President and General Sales Manager.

Mr. Grant was, until February first 1924, President and General Manager of Delco-Light Company of Dayton, Ohio, a subsidiary of General Motors Corporation. He was connected with this business from its inception, and was especially active in building up and directing the methods of merchandising farm lighting and refrigerating equipment.

Before organizing the Delco-Light Company he was Sales Manager of the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Grant was with the National Cash Register Company for twelve years and worked up from a salesman to the position of Sales Manager.

During his connection with the General Motors Corporation he has come in contact with many phases of the automobile business and is thus in position to apply his merchandising experience in other lines, to the sales effort of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Messrs. C. Earl Dawson and D. S. Eddins will continue to be Assistant General Sales Managers. Wm. Knudsen, President, Chevrolet Motor Co.

selling season, Mr. Dodge reported that new dealers were being signed up at the rate of six or more a day. He described dealers now taking the line as falling into two classifications—those who had been watching the new Oldsmobile six since its introduction last October and now were assured that it would stand up under all conditions, and others who have decided that a good future is in store for the Oldsmobile dealers.

MAY UNUSUAL FOR HEAVY RAINS AND LOW TEMPERATURES

Frost Occurred Two Days Last Month Weather Records Show

Had you been able to measure the amount of rain on all the rainy days during May you would have found that the total rainfall for the month was 4.65 inches, an unusual precipitation for one month. From May 1 to 13, the precipitation was 3.44 inches. The greatest amount for a single day was 1.34 inches, on May 8. On May 13 and 23 the record showed .64 and .61 inches respectively.

Rain fell, sufficient for records to be taken, on seventeen days of the month. On two other days, observation of a trace of precipitation was made. Rain, hail and snow were recorded on May 19, .05 of an inch. A trace of snow was observed on May 24.

TEMPERATURE IS LOW

The month was unusual for its low temperatures which showed but slight variations in maximums and minimums.

On two days frosts were recorded, May 1 and May 20, the minimum record being 31 degrees. The warmest point was on May 16, when 71 degrees were recorded.

Following is the complete thermometer record for the month of May:

GETS DAMAGES OF $360 OUT OF CATTLE DEAL

Cattle which were not as represented brought damages of $360 to John Huss, a farmer of the town of Freedom, in a suit which he filed in circuit court at Manitowish against Thomas E. Doonan, a Manitowish breeder.

The claim grew out of the sale of pedigree cattle at an auction. Huss claimed that the animals were represented as registered but that after the purchase he was forced to expend $25.50 to have three calves registered, to get a cow and another calf listed and one cow that he paid $165 for was sold to the butcher at $50. After hearing the evidence the jury found for the plaintiff and set his damages at $360. Morgan and Johns appeared for the plaintiff while Timothy Burke of Green Bay, conducted the defense.

Miss Bennett Named Editor Of Lawrentian

Miss Mary Bennett of Randolph, has been elected editor of the Lawrentian, the weekly newspaper published by Lawrence college. She is the third woman elected as editor of the college paper. Rudolph Kubitz of Appleton was elected news editor, Frank Heck of Racine re-write man and headline writer, and Harold H. Hamilton of Merrill was re-elected business manager.

The office of re-write man and headline writer was instituted at the recent elections, in place of the office of editorial writer, which has been abolished. The new office carries a salary.

Miss Elfrida Hempel of Neenah was one of the three women editors, holding this office in 1917-18. The other was Miss Muriel Kelly of Appleton, who edited the paper in 1918-19.

ON THE SCREEN

THE RENDEZVOUS

Marshall Neilan's Russian picture, "The Rendezvous," which closes its engagement at the Elite Theater today, lived up to advance predictions of a dramatic and artistically produced photoplay and seems bound to win fresh laurels for Neilan's already great directorial fame.

Although the production was filmed in its entirety at the Goldwyn studios in Culver City, Calif., the illusion was so perfect that it seemed the scene had been photographed in the remote Siberian village where the action takes place. A splendid cast assisted Neilan in giving soul to a moving love story. Conrad Nagel is sure to win new admirers by his impersonation of an American army officer. Lucille Ricksen makes a pretty and appealing heroine. As a comrade and later as a Soviet heavy, Elmo Lincoln gave a villainous performance. Sydney Chaplin was responsible for clever comedy relief as a British Tommy. Other good actors in the cast were Emmett Corrigan, Eugene Besserer, Richard Travers, Kathleen Key, Lucien Littlefield, Kate Lester and W. O. Penning.

BIG STAR CAST IN "PERFECT FLAPPER"

It was inevitable that Colleen Moore, who created such a sensation in "Flaming Youth" and "Painted People," both First National pictures, should once again give the screen another portrayal of the modern flapper.

And judging by her remarkable characterization in these pictures it was also inevitable that her next picture be called "The Perfect Flapper," this is the opus scheduled to be opened at the Elite Theater, on Monday for a run of three days.

Exceptional attention was given Colleen Moore's forthcoming production because of the astonishing records of this winsome star's previous efforts, and it is said that she rises to still greater heights in "The Perfect Flapper."

A cast of unusual quality was assembled to surround the star.

GEORGE LARKIN, MOVIE STAR, BACK ON "LOT" AFTER RECENT MISHAP

Many accidents pictured on the silver sheet seem realistic, yet in most cases they are either faked by moving of the camera or the doubles, who for a small sum, can perform hazardous stunts.

George Larkin, supported by Fritz Ridgeway in a great drama of the outdoor elements, met with a serious accident during the filming of "Boomerang Justice," a Russell Production.

He was riding down a narrow pathway toward a bluff approximately twelve feet high when his horse, frightened suddenly by a crack of thunder, made a leap over the bluff, throwing Larkin in a heap below.

The directors and other members of the cast rushed to Larkin, and applied whatever aid they could.

In the hospital the doctor found that Larkin had broken three ribs and that his back was also severely injured.

This mishap caused a delay of several weeks in the completion of "Boomerang Justice," but you'll be fortunate enough to see this very occurrence on the screen at the New Bijou theatre, Sunday.

HOME FURNACE WARRANTY

Five Years

Child to be Certified. This HOME FURNACE is warranted for five years.

It is the policy of the HOME FURNACE CO. to furnish a fully guaranteed product, and to stand behind its product in every way.

For a full and complete description of the HOME FURNACE, see the HOME FURNACE CO. booklet, "Warmth Without Worry," which is sent free of charge to anyone who writes for it.

Easy to run—anyone who can handle a HOME Furnace.

Factory Installed and Guaranteed

Of course, you want to know beforehand that that new furnace of yours is going heat your house.

Your neighbor's "HOME" may heat his house well enough; but that doesn't prove that that very same installation would heat yours—any more than that his best suit of clothes might fit you.

That's exactly why every HOME Furnace is Factory-installed—it's tailored to fit your own house; and you know when you pay for it that it absolutely will heat it. In fact, the factory gives you a written, five-year warranty to that effect.

In other words, you have the binding guarantee of a large, financially-sound corporation that next winter, when the Storm King blows his coldest, your home will be snug and cozy.

There are other HOME advantages you can't afford to overlook, such as the one-quarter to one-third saving in the fuel bill due to the damperless hot blast ring; the big combustion chamber that burns up the soot and smoke; and the breast-high shaker and big feed door that make the HOME so easy to run.

Consult our local factory branch at once or write direct to the factory.

Our free booklet, "Warmth Without Worry," tells about other HOME advantages. Write for your copy today.

ORDER TEN COUNTS OF ROAD TRAFFIC

First Tabulation of Vehicles of Highways Will Be Made in Two Weeks

The first traffic census of the 1924 motoring season will be undertaken simultaneously in all the counties of the state in two weeks, according to word emanating from the state highway commission.

Ten of these counts of motor and horse drawn vehicles will be made by the county highway department on the state highways this summer at periods of approximately two weeks apart. Counts will also be made on special days, such as the Fourth of July and Labor day, as well as on average days to obtain the maximum and average record of the summer.

Wisconsin cars and foreign cars, that is, out-of-state cars, will be enumerated separately. In order that an accurate knowledge of the tourist traffic may be obtained, last year the traffic census revealed an astonishing number of foreign cars in Outagamie-co., a fact of much significance to the business men who benefit by the tourist trade.

EARLY TRAINING

The training in the use of individual judgment can be begun even in infancy; a child should early be taught to choose certain paths of action for himself; and if he is continually and absolutely forbidden to do this or that he is sometimes seriously handicapped later, because he does not know how to use his own reasoning faculties in making these choices. On the other hand, obedience is one of the most necessary lessons for children to learn. A wise mother will not abuse her privilege in this respect by a too-exacting practice. For the most part she can exert her control otherwise than by commands, and if she does so her authority when exercised will have greater force, and instant obedience will be more readily given.

Most of the naughtiness of infancy and be traced to physical causes. Babies who are fussy, restless, and fretful are usually either sick or ailing, have not been properly fed and cared for, or have been indulged too much. On the other hand, babies who have the right food, who are kept clean and have plenty of sleep and fresh air, and who have been trained in regular habits of life, have no cause for being "bad" and are therefore "good."

It must not be forgotten that infancy is a period of education often of greater consequence than any other two years of life. Not only are all the organs and functions given their primary training, but the faculties of the mind receive those initial impulses that determine very largely their direction and efficiency through life. The first nervous impulses which pass through the baby's eyes, ears, fingers, or mouth to the tender brain makes a pathway for itself; the next time another impulse travels over the same path it deepens the impressions of the first. It is because the brain is so sensitive to these impressions in childhood that we remember throughout life things that have happened in our early years while near events are entirely forgotten. If therefore, these early stimuli are sent in orderly fashion, the habit thus established and also the tendency to form such habits will persist throughout life.

TRAINING THE BLADDER

It takes longer to teach the baby the control of his bladder, but the method to be followed is the same as with the bowel training. The baby should be given the chamber very often, perhaps once an hour, at least, while awake, and gradually led to indicate his desire. One device for teaching the baby not to wet is to put him in drawers very young, discard the diaper much earlier than is usually done. The warm, thick diaper constantly suggests to the baby the idea of wetting and no doubt retards his training in this regard. He will not like the feeling of wet, cold drawers, and there will be nothing about them to suggest wetting, but rather the reverse.

LIGHTNING FIRES POSSIBLE IN RADIO

Radio sets present a fire hazard during the time of electrical storms according to information sent out by the National Fire Waste council. Lightning is apt to travel into a building over an aerial, but this may be avoided if a device known as a lightning arrester is attached to the lead wire. The protector should not be placed near inflammable material, however.

All radio antennae and wiring should be kept away from electric light and power wires, as this is a cause of fire or shock sometimes. The council warns. Antennae should not be attached to old brick chimneys

WINDOW DISPLAY WINS RECOGNITION IN MAGAZINE

Favorable comment on a display window in A. Gaipin Sons store a few weeks ago is contained in the current issue of Winchester Herald, a house organ which goes to many hardware dealers in the country. The display described represents a workbench set up in a basement, with tools scattered about in a most life-like manner. The display was valuable, the Herald said, because it showed what use can be made of a basement.

Increase Of 400% In Cars On Route 15

Motor traffic on state trunk highway 15 passing through Appleton has grown at a rate that is almost alarming and explains why the Wisconsin highway commission has seen fit this year to create new through routes from Chicago and Milwaukee as a means of relieving the congestion on the principal concrete artery.

Figures compiled by the commission reveal an increase of approximately 400 per cent in the traffic volume in five years. There has been a marked jump each year and in 1923 there was an increase of 47 per cent over the year 1922.

There were four traffic counts in 1919 and those showed that an average of 1,230 vehicles of all kinds passed over highway 15 between Appleton and DePere in a 12-hour period. Five counts gave an average of 1,675 in 1920 and a like count gave 2,410 vehicles in 1921. Eight counts were made in 1922 and the same number in 1923, showing 2,846, average in the former period and 4,189 in the latter.

The summer of 1923 was the first in which the autoist was assured a

Victory Over Oshkosh With Pails Idle Will Tie Twins, Appleton

"Bull" Durham's Indians Expect to Scalp Smith's Club After Staging Recovery at Green Bay.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE

OSHKOSH at APPLETON.
Shoebogon at Fond du Lac.
Kaukauna at Green Bay.

With the league leading Pails idle Sunday the Papermakers stand a good chance of climbing to the top of the heap using the invading Oshkosh club as a stepping stone. If Appleton defeats the Indians at Brandt park Sunday afternoon, and it looks as though there should be little doubt about that, the Smithmen would be tied for first with Neenah-Menasha. Shoebogon probably will be third party in the tie, for the Chairmakers invade Fond du Lac where they expect to hand Louis Parle's aggregation a sound drubbing.

"Bull" Durham's tribe has but one game marked up in the win column, but any team which jumps to conclusions and looks upon the Indians as an easy mark is likely to get an unpleasant surprise. Oshkosh dropped its four first contests by very close scores and appears to be on the upward path now.

INDIANS HIT HARD

Green Bay, which defeated the Papermakers several weeks ago, can testify to this. The Tribe last week invaded Green Bay and copped the contest, 6 to 5. The Indians hit hard and often, and fielded like a bunch of big leaguers. Having got four bad games off their chest they now are ready to fill up the win column and expect to make the Papermakers their next victims.

The Oshkosh lineup will be as follows: Dills SS, Kirby, CF, Wilson RF, Durham LF, Schulz 1B, Keating 2B, Williams 3B, Runke C, Smith P, Ryan E.

The Appleton lineup will be as follows: Eriemaler, CF, Weisberger, 1B, Sylvester, 1F, T. Lamers, ss; Bergeron, 2B; M. Lamers, 3B; Goshaw, RF; Babiness, C; Stack, P.

Herr of Milwaukee will umpire the contest.

PLAYING LURES

One of the biggest mistakes made by most beginners, as well as many of the "old timers" who haven't been "wised up" on account of their attitude toward a successful bait tosser who knows the game thoroughly and whose mind is open to suggestions—is neglecting that little trick of starting the bait in action the minute it hits the water. In doing this the gamey fellow thinks it is something trying to give him the slip and this alone will make him strike even if it is out of mere curiosity.

Take a spinner of plug, for instance; let it lie on the water all day—or for a week—and you will notice that the lure will be left untouched. This is but a comparison to the angler who leaves his bait lying idle at the end of a cast or takes his time about retrieving the lure after it has hit the water. There's not a fish in any waters that will strike an idle piece of metal or a wooden minnow unless it is given some action to make it appear lifelike, and the same can be applied to any lure of the artificial variety.

Probably the failure of your last fishing trip was due to just this little tip and the next time you are out on a stream just try it and notice the results.

As contestants Saturday struggle for points and glory for the middle west, they also compete for the right to take part in the final Olympic trials in the Harvard stadium next Friday and Saturday.

FOUR HOME TILTS ON LAWRENCE GRID MENU NEXT SEASON

Beloit, Hardest Opponent, Scheduled for Final Contest on Nov. 22

Athletic officials of Lawrence this year have arranged a highly satisfactory football schedule for next season, with the easiest contests coming first, and the hardest, in which the Lawrenceians meet Beloit, at the end of the season on Nov. 22.

Neither Ripon nor Beloit will invade this city next season, but Northwestern is scheduled for a contest on Lawrence field Oct. 11, and Carroll college and Hamline play here on Nov. 1 and 15 respectively. One of the two latter contests will be the Lawrence homecoming game, but it has not yet been decided which.

Following is the completed schedule:

Oct. 4—St. Norbert here.
Oct. 11—Northwestern here.
Oct. 15—University of Iowa at Iowa City.
Oct. 25—Ripon at Ripon.
Nov. 1—Carroll here.
Nov. 8—Open.
Nov. 15—Hamline here.
Nov. 22—Beloit at Beloit.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Harry Leopold sure is banging the ball right on the nose for Neenah-Menasha. The veteran first sacker is hitting consistently in every game and a number of his wallows have been for extra bases. Leopold is just as good a first sacker as there is in the State league aggregations.

The worries of running a ball club haven't slowed up the diamond performances of Manager Faris at Fond du Lac. He is performing brilliantly around the initial sack and getting some timely hits. His broken leg of last season mended perfectly and he is as fast as ever on the paths.

Doc Delmore, the Bay catcher, pulled one for the books while playing against Oshkosh. He made a double play unassisted at the plate. On an attempted squeeze play, the bunt dropped short, Delmore grabbed the ball, touched the runner coming in home and then tagged the batsman for the out.

Babbiness, the Milwaukee youngster, who is filling Wenzel's shoes behind the bat for Appleton, looks like the best backstop in the circuit. He pegs the ball like a bullet, is a chatter box behind the lot and has been clouting the ball with a vengeance. He sure is proving a good addition.

Scholastic golfers from Fond du Lac and Appleton are among the contestants in the Badger state school tournament which is holding sway Friday and Saturday over the links of the Racine Country club. Youthful club swingers from fourteen schools teed off in the opening flight.

The Sheboygan Champs make their first appearance of the season in Fond du Lac on Sunday. The Leblains are all set for a victory as they were knocked off in the last start by Jimmy Archer's Chicago All Stars. Jones is to hurl for Fondy and his first one may fool Braun & Co.

A classy pitchers' battle should be on tap Sunday, when Oshkosh and Appleton cross bats in the College city. The warm weather has loosened up the knicks in Smith's hurling arm while Eddie Stack is a wise enough old slasher to make things mighty interesting for Bull Durham and his sluggers.

Eddie Stumpf will take his youngsters to Green Bay for the Sabbath Day tilt. The Electric City Manager claims he has a surprise to spring on the Bays, who haven't been hitting "all nine." Pocan will toss for Kaukauna while Howard is to toe the mound for Braby's club.

Appleton Boys Play In State Golf Tourney

Three Appleton high school golfers are competing in the second annual Wisconsin interscholastic tournament at Racine. Lester Bauleau, John Powell and Conrad Verbrick are the Appleton entrants. Bauleau and Verbrick have had considerable experience in the game, having acted as caddies of the Riverview Country club here and contested in the caddies' tournament last year.

There are 18 schools entered in the Racine meet, an increase of seven over last year's tourney, and each team is composed of three players. It was planned to play off the finals Saturday, the qualifying rounds having been scheduled for Friday.

Fargo, N. D.—Russell Leroy, Fargo welterweight, knocked out Bill McGuire, Milwaukee, in the first of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Milwaukee—Johnny O'Donnell of St. Paul defeated Johnny Mendelsohn of Milwaukee in ten rounds, and Joe Sangor, Milwaukee defeated Mike Brady, Brooklyn, in ten rounds.

Uncle Sam's Boys In Olympic Trials

LEFT TO RIGHT: CABALLERO, HALLAIZZ, KLEBO, MARENO

It is probable that some of the strength which your Uncle Samuel will fling against the world in the Olympic games in Paris this summer will be made up of his soldier boys. Four of the best three-milers in the army are pictured in this group, snapped while preparing for the Olympic trials in the east.

Fox River Millmen Face Hard Game With Oshkosh

Fox River Paper Co., baseball team

this year has been defeating all comers regularly, and among its victims numbers the Kaukauna club of the State league. This week the Millmen will have to extend themselves to keep their record unblemished, for they journey to Oshkosh Sunday afternoon to lock horns with the McMillens at Lakeside park.

The Fox River team, under the management of Bazis, probably is one of the strongest industrial teams the valley ever has known. The players get plenty of practice as most of them also play in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league on Saturdays, and the results of this are evidenced in classy fielding and accurate hitting, worthy of minor league clubs.

The McMillens probably will give the Appleton invaders plenty to keep them busy Sunday. As their record in the Fox River league is 10 wins and 10 losses, one of the Oshkosh sport writers has the following to say about them:

"The 'Macs,' in their last trip of three games, came out on the long end of the encounter. They trimmed the fast Manitowoc team twice by scores of 4 to 2 and 6 to 4, and last Saturday, lost the only game of the trip to Kimberly, 4 to 3. The Kimberly game was a hard fought battle."

HAS GOOD TEAM
"Manager Carl Elmer feels confident that, with several new men in his lineup, he has as good a ball club as could be wished for, and expects to give Appleton a beating. The game is called at 2:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon."

Sommerfeld will do the catching Sunday. He has been hitting a fast pace with the McMillens all season, is still hitting hard and has a fast, accurate peg to the bases. Tod Bartlett, at first, is staging a real comeback, has a perfect fielding record and is hitting consistently.

"Gunn" Elmer, at second, and Haebig, at short, are playing steady ball, with Charlie Schultz at third, knocking the ball all over the lot. In the outfield there are some classy ball chasers in Capt. Ed. Pugh, Art Hoehne, Hank Gettzen, Koch, De Behnke, and Dustman. Manager Elmer can pick a real trio of fielders from this group.

HAS FOUR PITCHERS
The club has four hurlers in Manager Elmer, Hank Gettzen, Art Hoehne and Koch, each ready to take the slab at any time. Mike Fallon, who has pitched the last three games, allowing only eleven hits in that time may remain with the team. A Milwaukee aggregation saw Fallon hurl against Manitowoc and have offered him good inducements.

"The four remaining pitchers all have a world of experience and are ready at any time to step in and pitch a hard game. Gettzen, three last season for the Whites, and wined during the city championship series and pitched pretty ball."

WALKER WINS OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP FROM BOBBY JONES

New Champ Forced to Shoot Par on Final Nine Holes to Make Up Lead

By Associated Press

Detroit, Mich.—America has a new open golf champion Saturday in the person of Cyril Walker of Englewood Country club of the suburban district of New York, and for the first time in four years, he was not a native American. Walker, who is a native of Hoveyale, England, took the crown from Bobby Jones, with a score of 297 which was three strokes better than the score of the southern champion, played over the links of the Oakland Hills Country club.

The finish was a thrilling one, Walker having to shoot par golf on the final 9 holes to overcome his youthful opponent. Jones had shared the lead at the end of the first 36 holes with Bill Mehlhorn of St. Louis, but Walker had tied the Atlanta as the end of the third round and they were still even at the end of the first half of the final round. It was in the home stretch that Jones faltered, taking a six on the tenth for the second time and finishing with a 40 which accounted for the three strokes difference in their scores.

Mehlhorn slipped only one stroke behind Jones, finishing with 301, while fourth place was shared with 303 by Macdonald Smith, San Francisco, Walter Haven and Bobby Cruickshank of New York.

The others to finish among the prize winners were Peter Ohara, New York; Abe Ephraim, San Francisco, with 305 each; Mike Brady, New York, with 306, and Chick Evans, and Edie Loe of Chicago, and Dave Roberts of Detroit, with 307.

Denver, Colo.—Eddie McCarthy of Los Angeles and Joe Black of Denver fought a four-round draw.

Toronto—Bobby Ebbor of Hamilton Canadian bantamweight, won a decision over Leo (Kid) Roy of Montreal, Canadian featherweight champion, featherweight champion, in ten rounds with no titles at stake.

Koch, Hoehne and Elmer are equally well known to the fans, and with this lineup, the 'Macs' expect to make Appleton bump right along."

REGULARS INVADE KIMBERLY SUNDAY FOR RETURN GAME

Millmen Will Try Hard to Get Revenge on Appleton Homeplayers

Kimberly Sunday will make a strong effort to get revenge on the Appleton Regulars for their previous 3 to 2 defeat at the hands of Schueler's homeplayers, when the latter invaded the Mill city. Appleton has been at the top of the ladder for several weeks, and easily outplayed every rival it has met thus far, with the exception of Green Bay. The Regulars are headed for the pennant and unless some unforeseen catastrophe occurs, they should win in a walk.

Last year the Regulars and Appleton, both Appleton homeplayer teams, trailed along in the cellar of the Kromer league. This year Appleton is represented by but one team, and is making much better progress. John Schueler has taken over the management of the club, and has built up an outfit second to none in the Kromer circuit.

Brautigan and Ashman form a battery which promises to keep the club in its present lofty position, and are ably supported.

Rochester, N. Y.—Chubb Brown, Rochester, won the decision over Joe Willing of Chicago in ten rounds.

Walter P. Chrysler Announces—

It is now time to state our positive conviction that the good Maxwell is the best four-cylinder car in America at anything like its price.

The high goal set up by the new organization more than three years ago has been reached. The last year's rapid development of sweeping superlatives in riding, and driving, and all phases of performance, leave no doubt of that.

Unless you are abreast of what Maxwell has lately been doing—unless you know how far it has advanced—it will pay you to inform yourself before you buy any new car.
